Classics

French Martini

Belvedere shaken with Chambord and Pineapple juice

The cocktail first appeared on the menu of the Keith McNally's Pravda, which was a vodka-themed lounge which opened in the mid-90s.

Blood and Sand

Johnnie Walker Black shaken with Cherry Brandy, Cocchi di Torino and Orange

Created in 1922, the drink is named after Rudolph Valentino's Blood & Sand bullfighter movie which has released the same year.

Corpse Reviver No.2

Gin shaken with Cointreau, Cocchi Americano, Lemon and Absinthe

Whilst some of the drinks under this umbrella, are thought to have been established in England around the 1860s it was not until Harry Craddock wrote them in his 1930 "The Savoy Cocktail Club," that they were finally put down in published form.

Corn n' Oil

Plantation 12 years old Coq d' Argent Reserve stirred with Velvet Falernum, Angostura Bitters

Historians tell us that the rum industry originated on Barbados, so the Corn 'n Oil represents in a glass the island's rum heritage. Here's to Barbados, to its rums, and to the unknown inventors of falernum and the Corn 'n Oil Cocktail

El Presidente

Plantation 3 Star stirred with Noilly Prat, Cointreau and Grenadine

The El Presidente earned its acclaim in Havana, Cuba during the 1920s through the 1940s during the American Prohibition. The cocktail was named in honour of President Gerardo Machado and quickly became the preferred drink of the Cuban upper class.

Last Word

Tanqueray shaken with Green Chartreuse, Maraschino and Lime

According to Ted Saucier the cocktail was created in the early 1920s in Detroit, where it was first served at the Detroit Athletic Club. Later Frank Fogarty introduced it to New York and in 1951 its recipe got published in Ted Saucier's classic cocktail book Bottoms Up.

Old Cuban

Bacardi 8years old shaken with mint and lime juice, top up with Champagne

This wonderful drink was created by Audrey Saunders, proprietor of the Pegu Club in New York City. You will notice that it is closely related to the Mojito, but with far more elegance and sophistication.

Penicillin

Johnnie Walker Black shaken with Ginger, Honey, and Lemon, Laphroaig 10 year's old spray on the top

A contemporary classic, created by Sam Ross of multi awarded bar Milk & Honey NYC. A sour essentially, but the Scotch base is highlighted with alternative ingredients. It has truly become a bartender favourite and a popular drink to set up on menus around the world.

Scottish Malt Whisky 50ml*Islands (Islay, Skye and Jura)

Sitting amongst the Inner and Outer Hebrides are the malt whisky producing islands. Rugged, windswept and barren, these island landscapes generally produce single malt whiskies with strong peaty, marmite aromas. The Islands malt range from powerful, bursting with flavour notes such as the black pepper to the lighter, aromatic notes.

The Isle of Islay is generally recognised for its smoky malts like the pungent, peat – smoke sweetness of Lagavulin.

Not all Islay malts are so full of rich smoke however like the cleaner, lighter notes in Caol Ila.

Campbeltown

Campbeltown whiskies are a curious mix. Characteristics include a defined dryness with pungency, smoke and a solid salinity. It's almost a cross between the Lowlands and the Western Highlands with a pinch of salt thrown in for good measure.

Lowlands

The terrain of the Lowlands is characterised by rolling fields which are ideally suited to growing grain whisky. The softer landscape is mirrored in the region's single malt, which tend to be lighter in both colour and body. With little or no peat used in the drying of the malt, the whiskies distilled here are generally fresh and light, floral and fragrant.
