Domaine de La Bonserine, Condrieu 2017. Rhône Valley, France	27

The Northern Rhone Valley estate was founded in 1972 by Alfred Gerin, along with an American partner/investor. Today, Domaine de Bonserine is owned by Ets. Guigal, who purchased the estate in 2006. Domaine de Bonserine is situated in the north of Cote Rotie in Verenay, just a bit northeast of the town Ampuis. Domaine de Bonserine owns 10.5 hectares of vines in Cote Rotie, making de Bonserine the second largest vineyard owner in the entire Cote Rotie appellation. The vines are planted in some of the best terroir in the appellation on both the Cote Blonde and Cote Brune. The terroir is mostly steep hillsides with iron-rich schist and mica soils. All their work in the vineyard is done on a sustainable, farming basis. No chemicals, pesticides or herbicides of any type are ever used.

Mount Eden Vineyards, Chardonnay 2013. California, USA. 37

Mount Eden Vineyards is a 60-year-old fine wine estate located 600 meters above the Santa Clara Valley. This is one of the oldest continuous producers of estate bottled Pinot Noir and Chardonnay in California. The synergy of the vine selection, soil, low yields, climate and minimalistic handling of the wine in the cellar creates chardonnays that are capable to age for a decade.

This is a forceful wine, giving power and concentration from beginning to end, with aromas of honeysuckle, lime zest, hazelnut and earth come through with abundance.

Torres, "Gran Coronas - Mas La Plana" 1989. Penedès, Catalonia, Spain. 39

Previously known as the 'black label', Torres' most prestigious vineyard, Mas La Plana is 100% Cabernet Sauvignon. Mas La Plana is one of the most (if not the most) famous Cabernet Sauvignons from Spain. Torres rose to fame at the Paris Wine Olympiad, when the 1970 vintage beat other famous wines from around the world, including some of the best from Bordeaux.

1989 was a fantastic vintage in Penedès and showcases soft cool leafy fruit, spices, olives and earth. The wine is balanced but the fruit is softening with coffee and tobacco being the current major flavours now.

M. Chapoutier, "Le Pavillon" Ermitage 2004. Northern Rhône Valley, France. 60

The family's history in the Rhône dates back to 1808, but it wasn't until 1879 that Polydor Chapoutier transitioned the family from growing grapes to making and trading wine. In 1988, Michel Chapoutier took the company reins, and a push toward quality saw the Chapoutier label begin to gain international recognition. Michel Chapoutier eschewed the use of traditional chestnut foudres for aging, instead moving toward smaller oak casks with shorter aging periods. He also advocated to keep the wines unfiltered and unfined, and to produce only biodynamically or organically grown fruit across all of the vineyards.

From 1996, all labels have included braille in honor of Maurice Monier de la Sizeranne, who created a form of modern abbreviated braille, and was the original owner of the Chapoutier vineyard in Hermitage.

The nose is tarry and smoky, with hints of raspberry, blackberry, walnut, and liquorice. On the palette it is complex, velvety and balanced, with a long final, liquorice, tobacco, and cocoa.
